

MARYANN CROCE
Owner
Croce's Transmission
Specialists

Maryann and her husband Tony have owned Croce's Transmission Specialists in Norwalk, CT since 1999. Croce's is an honored recipient of The Greater Norwalk Chamber of Commerce Small Business Award and the CT Better Business Bureau Consumer Education Award.

Maryann's corporate background in banking, management, and customer service complement Tony's years of technical training and experience. Her passion for the good people in the automotive industry, fuels her commitment to be a resource to her community. She feels blessed to have a caring team and attributes her involvement in industry associations to personal and professional development. She also serves on industry and local business committees.

She sees the automotive industry as a viable career option for the next generation of men and women and believes that shop owners and industry leaders must be examples of professionalism to better the industry for all. She speaks to students and parents at annual 'Career Night' presenting 'Today's Automotive Technician.'

Maryann teaches continuing education classes for small business owners and has a second business. Small Biz Vantage provides business coaching and consulting to small business owners.

She credits her local Toastmasters International club and its members, with the accountability and support needed to grow as a presenter and leader. She gets her strength and courage from the Wish Kids and families she meets, as a CT Make-A-Wish volunteer. Maryann considers herself a life-long learner, sharing, to help others succeed.
