

CITRIN COOPERMAN®

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTING

Focused on Guiding You Through Today's New Normal

The new administration is having wide-reaching impacts on many sectors of business. As plans take form in key areas like infrastructure, cybersecurity, defense contracting, regulatory reform, and more, the implications to the government contracting industry will be significant. We're here to help you acclimate to the new regulations and challenges posed by today's changing climate.

How Citrin Cooperman Can Help

Citrin Cooperman's dedicated Government Contracting Practice includes a team of professionals with deep experience in the government contracting sector. Our clients range in size from emerging to well-established contractors. We serve a wide array of industries in the areas of technology, communications, defense, security, intelligence, and professional services.

Whether applying for set-aside status, planning for their first prime contract, experiencing rapid growth, or preparing for an exit, our professionals assist government contractors in services above and beyond our competitors.

Our Government Contracting team stays ahead of ever-changing rulings, regulations, and compliance issues, which is especially vital in light of the COVID-19 crisis. We have prepared a resource center that is consistently updated with timely COVID-19 information as well as a comprehensive list of up-to-date government contracting related issues.

Related Services

In addition to our core assurance, tax, and advisory services, we also offer a custom suite of services focused on Government Contracting, including:

- Accounting policies and procedures
- Cost proposals pricing assistance
- DCAA accounting system review/pre-award survey
- Incurred cost submission preparation, review, or assistance
- Indirect rate and chart of accounts structuring
- Navigate compliance with government regulations and liaise with government agencies
- Support for 8(a) and small business programs