

MERGERS AND ACQUISITIONS TAX

Focused on Structuring the Right Deal

The tax landscape is constantly changing on federal, state, and local levels. Tax considerations have become of significant focus in mergers and acquisitions, both on the buy-side and the sell-side. The need for a properly structured transaction is critical to a successful deal.

How Citrin Cooperman Can Help

Mergers and acquisitions ("M&A") are complex, multilayered transactions with multiple moving parts. Tax implications must be considered when buying or selling a business as these are comprised of intricate matters. The resulting tax implications may significantly impact the negotiations of the deal. With the wide range of structuring alternatives and resulting tax consequences, the structure of the transaction must be thoroughly evaluated.

Related Practices

- International Tax
- Litigation and Dispute Advisory Services
- State and Local Tax (SALT)
- Tax Research and Planning
- Technology and Risk Advisory Consulting
- Transaction Advisory Services
- Valuation Advisory Services

Citrin Cooperman provides buy-side and sell-side representation across multiple industries. Our M&A tax professionals bring in industry experts during the process to make sure all aspects of your transaction and the deal are understood. We focus on bringing clarity to the deal economics and work with you to properly address the necessary tax considerations. Our team helps you maximize the purchase price through proper analysis of the tax consequences to a transaction.

Related Services

- Strategic tax structuring
- Sell-side services
- Buy-side services
- Due Diligence
- Pre transaction planning
- Post transaction and integration services
- Restructuring (or recovery) and bankruptcy services
- Divestitures
- Global structuring